Introduction

- 1.1. This document sets out the Freedom of Information (FOI) Policy for NHS Coventry and Warwickshire Integrated Care Board ('the ICB'). It explains what the ICB will do to comply with its obligations under the Freedom of Information Act 2000 (the "Act").
- 1.2. The Freedom of Information Act 2000 is part of the Government's commitment to greater openness in the public sector. It will enable members of the public to scrutinise the decision of public authorities more closely and ensure that services are delivered properly and efficiently. The Act replaces the non-statutory Code of Practice on Openness in the NHS and does not put a limit on the amount of information an organisation can disclose i.e., it may release more information than is allowed for in the Act but must at least release the information that the Act suggests it should.
- 1.3. The main features of the Act are:
 - A general right of access to everyone from 1 January 2005 to all recorded information held by public authorities, subject to certain conditions and exemptions set out in the Act.
 - A public interest test in cases where information may be exempt from disclosure, except where an absolute exemption applies.
 - A duty on public authorities to:
 - (i) inform the applicant whether they hold the information requested, and
 - (ii) communicate the information to the requester later than the twentieth working day following the date of receipt., unless the public interest in maintaining the exemption in question outweighs the public interest in disclosure;
 - A duty on every public authority to adopt and maintain a Publication Scheme (a guide to information held by each public authority).
 - An Information Commissioner with wide powers to enforce the rights created by the Act and to promote good practice.
- 1.4. As a public authority, the ICB has obligations under the Act. This policy supports the principle that openness should be the norm in public life. The ICB believes that individuals have a right to privacy and confidentiality, and this policy does not overturn the common law duty of confidentiality or statutory provisions that prevent disclosure of personal information. The release of such information will be dealt with under the provisions of the Data Protection Act 2018. The ICB must still be able to carry out its duties effectively to ensure this; the exemptions outlined in the Act and Regulations will be applied appropriately.

Objectives

- 2.1. This policy aims to:
- Ensure all requests for information are dealt with consistently and receive a high-quality response; ensure that the ICB complies with all relevant regulations, laws and guidance.
 - Ensure that there are clear routes for members of the public to contact the service so that they can appropriately request documents and information.
 - Ensure that the ICB has an up to date and inclusive Publication Scheme to provide the public with easy access to information and to reduce the number of written requests that the public have to make.
 - Ensure that the necessary administrative infrastructure is in place to enable compliance with the Act.
 - Ensure that all staff are aware of their responsibilities regarding the Act, whether it be directing any FOI requests to the correct person, or in ensuring that they provide the requested information within the required timescales.
 - Ensure that FOI requests are dealt with within the appropriate timescales.
 - Ensure that the Board is informed of the Act's implementation and any implications of this for the ICB.

Scope

- 3.1. This policy applies to all staff of ICB, whether permanent or temporary.
- 3.2. This policy applies to all information held by the ICB, whether paper or electronic, including documents that have been supplied by other organisations. It includes all draft and final documents, agendas, minutes, emails, diaries, video/audio recordings and even rough handwritten notes. Inaccurately held data needs also to be considered for disclosure.

Definition of Terms

- The Act – the Freedom of Information Act 2000.
- FOI – an acronym for Freedom of Information.
- ICO – an acronym for the Information Commissioner's Office.
- Exemption – categories of information that are not required to be disclosed (see Appendix B). They can be absolute or qualified.
 - Absolute exemption – does not require a test of prejudice or the balance of public interest to be in the favour of non-disclosure. The ICB is not under any obligation under the Act to consider the request for information any further if an absolute exemption applies.
 - Qualified exemption - is subject to the public interest test. Qualified exemptions do not justify withholding information unless, following a proper assessment, the balance of the public interest comes down against disclosure.
- Redaction – the process of editing or revising a piece of writing in preparation for publication or responding to a request.

Roles and Responsibilities

- 5.1. The ICB's Board has a duty to ensure compliance with the Act. The Board will be kept informed of any risks or issues in relation to compliance with this policy via the Audit Committee.
- 5.2. The Chief Executive has ultimate responsibility for compliance with the Act.
- 5.3. The Chief Executive has delegated responsibility for FOI to the Director of Corporate Affairs.
- 5.4. The Director of Corporate Affairs responsible for overseeing the day-to-day implementation of the Act and will:
 - Regularly report to the Board and/or Audit Committee in relation to FOI activities and compliance.
 - Be responsible for dealing with all appeals/complaints in relation to decisions on FOI requests. Where necessary an internal review will take place and a panel will be convened if required.
 - Be responsible for the ICB's Publication Scheme
- 5.5. The ICB has commissioned FOI services from Arden & Greater East Midlands Commissioning Support Unit (CSU) who provide a Freedom of Information Lead and supporting team to liaise directly with the ICB.
- 5.6. The Freedom of Information Team is responsible for processing and handling FOI requests received by the ICB, advising on the use of exemptions and providing assistance to those who request it. The Freedom of Information Team will assist with the implementation of this policy and will keep the Director of Corporate Affairs informed of any issues.
- 5.7. The ICB's Directors are responsible for:
 - Ensuring that their teams provide current and complete information to the CSU's Freedom of Information Team, so that accurate and high-quality responses can be produced.
 - Ratifying responses to FOI requests that relate to their Directorate before they are released.
- 5.8. Line Managers at all levels are responsible for ensuring that staff they are responsible for are aware of their obligations under the Act and that they adhere to this policy.
- 5.9. All ICB staff will:
 - Comply with the most up-to-date version of this policy.
 - Ensure that where a breach of this policy has occurred, or a significant risk has been identified, it is reported to their Line Manager so that the ICB's Incident Management process is invoked in accordance with the policy and Procedure for the Reporting and Management of Clinical and Non-Clinical Incidents.
 - Be aware that any breach of this policy may result in disciplinary proceedings. Furthermore, any breach of legal obligations may result in legal proceedings against an individual and/or the ICB.

Publication Scheme

- 6.1. The ICB will adopt the model publication scheme as provided by the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO).
- 6.2. The publication scheme will set out the categories of information that the ICB undertakes to publish. It will detail the format in which the information is held and whether there is a charge for its provision.
- 6.3. The publication scheme will be available on the ICB's websites and in hard copy upon request to the CSU's Freedom of Information Team.
- 6.4. Some of the information listed in the publication scheme will be available to view or download from the ICB's websites. However, other publications will have to be requested from the ICB.
- 6.5. Documents published through the publication scheme will be final approved versions.
- 6.6. Requests for information listed in the publication scheme should be in writing.
- 6.7. The publication scheme will be subject to regular review for content. Information that is frequently requested by the public will be available for viewing or downloading from the ICB's websites.
- 6.8. The publication scheme covers a wide range of information from all areas of the ICB. Directors are responsible for ensuring that up to date and complete information for the ICB is provided to the CSU's Communications Team for inclusion in the publication scheme.

Classes of Information within the Publication Scheme

- 7.1. The classes of information (listed in 7.2) are those which are expected to be published in order to meet the commitments under the model publication scheme of the ICO. The ICB is expected to make this information available unless:
 - The information is not held.
 - The information is exempt under one of the FOI exemptions or Environmental Information Regulations (EIRs) exceptions, or its release is prohibited under another statute.
 - The information is archived, out of date or otherwise inaccessible.
 - It would be impractical or resource intensive to prepare the material for routine release.
- 7.2. The specific classes, as per the Definition Document for Health Bodies in England ¹ of the Information Commissioner are:
 - Who we are and what we do.
 - What we spend and how we spend it.
 - What are our priorities are and how are we doing.
 - How we make decisions.
 - Our policies and procedures.
 - Lists and registers.
 - The services we offer.

General Rights of Access

- 8.1. Section 1 of the Act gives a general right of access to recorded information held by the ICB, subject to certain conditions and exemptions contained in the Act. Any person making a request for information to the ICB is entitled:
- To be informed in writing whether the ICB holds the information of the description specified in the request; and
 - To have information held by the ICB communicated to them.
- 8.2. These provisions are fully retrospective in that if the ICB holds the information, it must provide it, subject to certain conditions and exemptions. The ICB will ensure that procedures and systems are in place to facilitate access by the public to recorded information from this date.
- 8.3. A request for information under the general rights of access must be received in writing, stating the name of the applicant and an address for correspondence, and describing the information requested. A request is written if it is transmitted by electronic means, is received in legible form and is capable of being used for subsequent reference.
- 8.4. It is the duty of the ICB to provide advice and assistance to persons who have made, or wish to make, requests for information. The ICB will ensure that systems and procedures are in place to meet this duty.
- 8.5. The ICB will have a dedicated email account for FOI requests (agem.cwicb.foi@nhs.net) This dedicated email account will allow delegate access to authorised staff to cover periods when the person who manages the email account is absent, for example on annual leave.
- 8.6. The ICB website will provide clear instructions to the public on how they can make an FOI request electronically or by traditional postal means.
- 8.7. Should an applicant make 'repeated' or 'unreasonable' requests for identical or substantially similar information, the ICB will inform the applicant in writing that it will not fulfil the request. Equally, where a number of requests made by different people appear to form part of an organised campaign, the ICB may calculate the cost of complying with any of the requests as the cost of complying with them all. If this cumulative cost is estimated to exceed the appropriate limit (currently £450) that is set in the national Fees Regulations, then the ICB is not required to comply with the requests.

Dealing with Information Requests

- 9.1. The ICB will establish systems and procedures to ensure that the organisation responds to information requests not later than the 20th working day following the date of receipt of a request (where a public interest test is being considered an extension can be applied). All staff and Non-Executive Directors will be required to comply with the requirements of these procedures.
- 9.2. Whilst technically all requests for information are FOI requests, routine day to day requests may continue to be dealt with by individual staff members in the normal way and do not need to be recorded as FOI requests. Staff should respond to all requests for information in a timely manner – ideally within 10 working days, but within 20 working days maximum.

- 9.3. All paper requests for information must be date stamped with the date first received within the ICB. This date of receipt will be used to start the calculation of the 20 working days timescale for response.
- 9.4. All electronic requests will bear an electronic date of receipt (email or fax). There is no requirement for the date of receipt to be a working day. The date of receipt can therefore be a non-working day such as a weekend or bank holiday. If the request is received on a non-working day, the clock will still start on the previous working day.
- 9.5. The ICB will endeavour to acknowledge all FOI requests within three working days.
- 9.6. All FOI requests will be processed by the CSU as part of the Service Level Agreement.
- 9.7. A response to the request will be compiled by the appropriate manager and approved by their director before the response is sent to the CSU's Freedom of Information Team. Final responses will be sent to the requester by the CSU's Freedom of Information Team.
- 9.8. If the ICB choose to apply an exemption to any information or decides to refuse a request because it appears to be vexatious or repeated, or exceeds the appropriate limit for costs of compliance, a notice will be issued within twenty working days informing the applicant of this decision.
- 9.9. Where a fees notice is issued, the period between the fees notice being issued by the ICB and the fee being paid will be disregarded for the purposes of calculating the twentieth working day following receipt of the request.
- 9.10. If the ICB needs to apply the public interest test to a request for information, it may not be possible to reach a decision relating to disclosure within the 20-day time limit. In this situation, the ICB will write to the applicant within 20 days of receipt of the request with a realistic estimate of when a decision will be reached.

The 20 Working Day Clock

- 10.1. The ICB will start the 20-working day clock:
 - The day after the request is received (provided that it is received on a working day – see 10.2 below). According to section 10(1) of the Act the time limit for compliance is the twentieth working day following the date of receipt.
 - or
 - The day the ICB receives further information it reasonably requires in order to identify and locate the information requested: - section 1(3) of the Act.
 - or
 - If the request is received on a non-working day, the clock will still start on the previous working day.
- 10.2. In accordance with the Act, a working day is Monday through to Friday, with the exception of public/bank holidays.

Advice and Assistance

- 11.1. If the applicant has not provided enough information for the request to be dealt with (e.g., it is not clear what information has been requested), the applicant will be contacted as soon as it is realised that further clarification is needed so that this can be obtained. Although the 20-working day deadline for a response begins when the ICB receives further information or the clarification requested, it would be unreasonable for the ICB to delay making such a request for clarification.

- 11.2. Where necessary, the applicant will be given advice on how to access information from the publication scheme.
- 11.3. Where the ICB estimate that it will exceed the appropriate cost limit (see Section 12 below), the applicant will be offered assistance in refining or narrowing the scope of the request to bring the request within the appropriate cost limit.
- 11.4. If the ICB do not hold the information requested, but it is known that the information is held by another public authority, the applicant will be redirected accordingly.
- 11.5. The ICB will offer advice and assistance to applicants in situations where some or all of the information requested is not held by the ICB, so they can, if they choose, raise a request to the source organisation.
- 11.6. The basis for any fees levied or exemptions applied will be clearly explained.
- 11.7. If the applicant is seeking advice or assistance, they will be redirected accordingly.

The Limit on the Cost of Complying with a Request

- 12.1. The Freedom of Information and Data Protection (appropriate Limit and Fees) Regulations 2004 ² (hereafter referred to as the Fees Regulations) currently entitles the ICB to apply a cost limit of £450 equating to 18 working hours.
- 12.2. This represents the cost the ICB would reasonably expect to incur in:
 - Determining whether it holds the information.
 - Locating the information, or a document which may contain the information.
 - Retrieving the information, or a document which may contain the information; and
 - Extracting the information from a document containing it.
- 12.3. This does not include the cost of reproducing any document containing the information e.g. printing or photocopying, or posting and packing the information requested, or any time taken to redact exempt information.
- 12.4. Where it is estimated that the appropriate limit will be exceeded, the ICB will work with applicants to keep compliance costs to a minimum (see 11.3) but reserves the right to either refuse to disclose the information or charge whatever the costs of disclosure are above the appropriate limit.

Charges and Fees

- 13.1. Where a request falls within the appropriate limit, the ICB will generally not charge for information that is requested under the Act but reserves the right to apply charges in accordance with the Fees Regulation ³ for example, if multiple page hard copies are requested, or information is to be copied onto other media (e.g., CD-ROM).
- 13.2. In all cases where the ICB choose to make a charge, fees notice (in the form of a letter) will be issued to the applicant to be paid within a period of three months beginning with the day on which the fees notice is issued. Payment will be required prior to the release of information.

³ See Appendix C

Consultation with Third Parties

- 14.1. Where information cannot be disclosed without affecting the legal rights of a third party (e.g., where information (other than personal data) has been obtained from a third party and disclosure without their consent would constitute an actionable breach of confidence), the ICB will make reasonable efforts to gain the consent of the third party to the disclosure of information. In such cases where necessary, the ICB will need to take specialist legal advice.
- 14.2. Where information requested is personal data as defined by the Data Protection Act (see the Confidentiality and Data Protection Policy for further information on personal data), the ICB will refer to the exemption in Section 40 of the FOI Act.
- 14.3. Even where a third party's legal rights are not affected, the ICB will undertake consultation with third parties where their views will assist the ICB in assessing exemptions and the public interest.
- 14.4. The ICB will make reasonable efforts to contact third parties where necessary but may consider that consulting the third party is not appropriate where the cost of consulting would be disproportionate.
- 14.5. Where the interests of a number of third parties may be affected by a disclosure, the ICB may consider that consultation with their representative organisation or a representative sample of the third parties in question is sufficient to determine the basis upon which disclosure can be made.
- 14.6. In all cases, it is for the ICB (not the third party) to determine whether information should be disclosed under the Act. Non-response or refusal by a third party to consent to disclosure do not, in themselves, provide sufficient reason for information to be withheld.

Public Sector Contracts

- 15.1. When entering into contracts, the ICB will limit the contractual terms which are intended to restrict the disclosure of information held by the ICB. The Lord Chancellor's Code of Practice⁴ states that "unless an exemption provided under the Act is applicable in relation to any particular information, a public authority will be obliged to disclose that information in response to a request, regardless of the terms of any contract".
- 15.2. The ICB will not yield to pressure from contractors to accept confidentiality clauses covering information about the terms of the contract, its value or performance. Where it is necessary to include a non-disclosure provision in a contract (exceptional circumstances only), a schedule will be agreed with the contractor that clearly identifies the information that should not be disclosed. Both parties must be aware that any restrictions on disclosure in such a schedule could be overridden by obligations under the Act.
- 15.3. An exemption for confidential information only applies if the release of such information constitutes a breach of confidence actionable in a court of law.

Confidentiality of Information

- 16.1. Unless an exemption under the FOI Act is applicable in relation to any particular information, the ICB will be obliged to disclose that information in response to a request.
- 16.2. The ICB will not agree to hold information "in confidence" which is not, in fact, confidential in nature. Advice from the Lord Chancellor's Department indicates that the exemption provided for in section 41 of the Act only applies if information has been obtained by a public authority from another person, who may be an individual, a company or any other “legal entity”; and the disclosure of the information to the public, otherwise than under the Act, would constitute a breach of confidence actionable through a court of law by that person in question, or any other person.

⁴ See Appendix C

- 16.3. As outlined in 16.2 above, if it becomes necessary for the ICB to question whether information provided “in confidence” by a contractor should be disclosed in response to an information request, the ICB will consult with the contractor in answering that question where it is reasonably possible to do so.
- 16.4. The ICB will only accept information from third parties in confidence if it is necessary to obtain that information in connection with the exercise of the ICB’s functions, and it would not otherwise be provided. However, the ICB will not agree to hold information in confidence if it is not confidential in nature.

Exemptions

- 17.1. Part II of the Act specifies several different exemptions and when they can be applied. The exemptions are either absolute or qualified:
 - Absolute exemption - there is no obligation under the Act to consider the request for information further if an absolute exemption applies.
 - Qualified exemption - are subject to the public interest test. Qualified exemptions do not justify withholding information unless, following a proper assessment, the balance of the public interest comes down against disclosure.
- 17.2. In both cases the ICB will provide an informative response to the applicant explaining clearly why it is that the information that they have requested cannot be provided.
- 17.3. With the exception of Section 21 (information available by other means) exemptions apply not only to the communication of information but also to the duty to confirm or deny, if that in itself would disclose information that it is reasonable to withhold.
- 17.4. The absolute and qualified exemptions and the section of the Act in which they are contained are listed in Appendix B.
- 17.5. Where the ICB need to apply the public interest test to a request that is subject to a qualified exemption, it may not be possible to reach a decision relating to disclosure within the twenty-day limit. In this situation, the ICB will write to the applicant within twenty days of receipt of the request with a realistic estimate of when a decision will be reached, keep to this estimate where at all possible and keep the applicant informed at all times.
- 17.6. Advice and guidance on the application of exemptions will be sought from the CSU’s Freedom of Information Team in consultation with the Director of Strategy and Engagement.
- 17.7. The response will detail which exemptions have been applied and the reasons for this.
- 17.8. Documentation/communication records of the decision process will be kept.

Refusal of Requests

- 18.1. The ICB’s duty to confirm or deny does not arise where further information is required from the applicant to identify the information being requested and the applicant has been informed of this. However, in this situation the ICB will provide advice and assistance (as per paragraph 11.1).
- 18.2. The ICB does not have to comply with information requests where an absolute exemption applies (see Appendix B for the list of absolute exemptions).

- 18.3. The ICB will apply the public interest test to information where a qualified exemption (see Appendix B) could apply to determine whether the public interest in disclosing the information outweighs the public interest in maintaining its confidentiality. If this is found to be the case, the ICB will disclose the information in question.
- 18.4. The ICB will not comply with a request for information if it estimates that the cost of compliance with the request would exceed the appropriate limit that has been established in the Fees Regulations ⁵ (as per Section 12).
- 18.5. The ICB will work with applicants to keep compliance costs to a minimum but reserves the right to either:
 - Refuse to disclose the information.
 - Charge whatever costs of disclosure are above the appropriate limit.
- 18.6. Where charges are raised, the applicant will be issued with fees notice as described in 13.1 above. The ICB will not comply with a request for information when a fees notice has been issued to an applicant and the fee has not been paid within three months.
- 18.7. The ICB are not obliged to comply with a request for information if the request is deemed to be vexatious or repeated as defined by the Act. As all requests will be logged for monitoring purposes, the ICB will be able to identify those which fall into this category.
- 18.8. Where a request is refused, the ICB will notify the applicant within 20 working days of receiving the request and explain why the request is being refused. Similarly, where the public interest test has been applied and the request is still being refused, the ICB will state the reasons why the public interest in maintaining the exemption outweighs the public interest in disclosure.
- 18.9. A further notice will not be issued where the ICB has already issued a notice that a request is being refused because it is vexatious or repeated.
- 18.10. The ICB will keep a record of all requests where some or all of the requested information is withheld.
- 18.11. All notices issued by the ICB to the effect that it is refusing to comply with a request for information will inform the applicant of the procedure for submitting an appeal/complaint and of their right to apply to the Information Commissioner.

Redactions

- 19.1. If an applicant has requested all the information in a particular document but it is necessary to redact some of that information because it is exempt, it must be made clear that redactions have taken place and cite the relevant exemption as to why the information has been redacted.
- 19.2. The FOI Act applies to information, and not documents. Whilst the information requested is likely often to be contained in a document, this does not mean that the document has to be released with exempt material redacted from it. Rather, it may be more appropriate to release solely the information that can be released by creating a new document with only that information contained.
- 19.3. This is likely to be particularly relevant where the majority of the information contained in the document does not fall within the scope of the applicant's request.

⁵ See Appendix C

- 19.4. Any hard copy information which should not be released because it is exempt will be deleted by 'black penning' or "whiting out" the information to be protected prior to disclosure of the remaining contents. A check must be made to ensure that the method used has been effective (for example, ensure that it cannot be read from the reverse, or by holding it up to the light). Where necessary, photocopy it after redaction to ensure complete obscurity.
- 19.5. Consideration will be given as to whether redactions made in electronic documents could be technologically reversed. Where necessary, the information will be printed and scanned back into electronic format. An indication must be made where a redaction has taken place and the exemption cited.

Public Interest Test

- 20.1. The public interest will be considered in every case where a qualified exemption may apply. Defining the public interest will vary according to the information being requested. It may often involve issues around accountability, transparent decision making and good management. When considering the public interest to reach a decision on a qualified exemption, the ICB will seek appropriate professional advice (including legal advice). The ICB will aim to use the qualified exemptions sparingly and will, in accordance with Section 17 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000, justify their use.

Information that has been Deleted or Amended

- 21.1. The right of access to information under the Act applies to information held by the ICB at the time that the request is received.
- 21.2. Altering, defacing, blocking, erasing, destroying or concealing information in order to avoid providing it in response to an FOI (after a request has been received) may constitute a criminal offence under section 77 of the Act for which the person convicted will be held personally responsible.
- 21.3. Instructing a computer to delete a particular item may not result in the item being destroyed immediately. At least for a period, the information might still be retrievable albeit with substantial cost and disruption to the system. However, where it is the intention that data should be permanently deleted, and this is not achieved only because the technology will not permit it, the ICB will regard such data as having been permanently deleted. This information is no longer considered to be "held" by the ICB and does not have to be retrieved or provided in response to a request.
- 21.4. This approach is not justified where the information has only been temporarily deleted and is stored in such a way that it could easily be recovered, for example from the Deleted Items folder in Outlook. This information is still considered to be "held" by the ICB and may have to be provided if a request is received.

Appeals/Complaints

- 22.1. Initial appeals (requests for review of decisions) or complaints about the handling of a request for information under the Act will be directed to the Director of Corporate Affairs.
- 22.2. Upon receipt of an appeal/request, the Director of Corporate Affairs will conduct an internal review, supported by the CSU's Freedom of Information Manager. A panel of relevant ICB staff will be convened as appropriate.
- 22.3. The internal review will examine the handling of the request as appropriate to the appeal/complaint, for example:

- Whether the requestor was given adequate advice and guidance about their request for information.
 - Whether the procedures for responding to requests for information were followed correctly in that instance.
 - Whether, if an exemption was applied, the reasons were explained adequately to the requestor; and
 - Where information was withheld, the application of any exemption will be re-examined as will any application of the public interest test in the case of a qualified exemption.
- 22.4. Any applicant has a right under the Act to apply to the Information Commissioner if they remain dissatisfied with the conduct of the ICB following attempts at local resolution of their appeal/complaint. When the complainant is informed of the outcome of their initial appeal/complaint, they must be given full contact details of the Information Commissioner's Office.
- 22.5. Where the outcome of an appeal/complaint is that information should be disclosed which was previously withheld, the information in question will be disclosed as soon as possible and the applicant will be informed when this will be.
- 22.6. In the event that the Information Commissioner issues a decision/enforcement notice as a result of an appeal/complaint, the complainant or the ICB may appeal to the Tribunal against the notice.

Dissemination of information

- 23.1. The ICB will inform all staff of their FOI responsibilities via normal communication avenues within the ICB including induction training and information cascade. In addition, as stated in paragraph 5.6, it is the responsibility of managers to ensure that their staff are aware of the ICB's policies.
- 23.2. The ICB will include a standard statement in all e-mails to the effect that correspondence between the ICB and other stakeholders may be subject to public disclosure unless the information is legally exempt from disclosure under the FOI Act.

Circular or 'Round Robin' Requests

- 24.1. Where it seems clear that a number of local NHS organisations have been targeted for the same information, the CSU's Freedom of Information Team will liaise with ICB across the area to ensure that a cohesive approach is taken and a consistent response for all ICB can be provided to the applicant.

1. Reporting and Analysis

- 25.1. A quarterly report will be compiled by the CSU's Freedom of Information Team containing summarised information on FOI requests for the ICB. This will include details such as the type of requester (e.g., journalists, researchers, students etc), number of requests responded to in full, exemptions, refusals and time taken to respond. These reports will be submitted to the Audit Committee.
- 25.2. The ICB will keep a record of instances where estimated completion times are exceeded, and where this happens more than occasionally, take steps to identify the problem and rectify it.
- 25.3. FOI requests will be analysed to determine the type and frequency of information that is being requested with a view to ensuring that such information is included in the ICB's publication scheme.

2. Training and Awareness

- 26.1. Staff will be briefed on the policy and their responsibilities in relation to FOI during the induction process.
- 26.2. The CSU's Freedom of Information team will provide training to those managers tasked with handling FOI requests within the ICB and will consider specific training to identified groups as required or requested by the ICB. This policy and staff guidance will be available on the ICB's website.

3. Records Management

- 27.1. The ICB will have systems and processes in place for managing corporate records in any format to respond effectively to requests for information.
- 27.2. The ICB will comply with the Department of Health publication "Records Management: NHS Code of Practice, as well as the "Lord Chancellor's Code of Practice on the Management of Records under Section 46 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000". Please see the ICB's Records Management Policy which complies with these requirements.

4. Equality

- 28.1. The ICB recognises the diversity of the local community and those in its employ. Our aim is therefore to provide a safe environment free from discrimination and a place where all individuals are treated fairly, with dignity and appropriately to their need.
- 28.2. The ICB recognises that equality impacts on all aspects of its day-to-day operations and has produced an equality impact assessment tool (EIA) to assess and address any potential or actual adverse effects. This is in respect of local communities and staff we employ. All policies, procedures and functions have a comprehensive impact assessment to determine the level and extent of the potential or actual adverse effects and remedial solutions to them.

5. Policy Review

- 29.1. This policy will be reviewed every three years. Earlier review may be required in response to exceptional circumstances, organisational change or relevant changes in legislation or guidance.

6. Monitoring

- 30.1. The effectiveness of the policy will be monitored by the Audit Committee through the reporting of requests received and responses given.

Appendix B – Freedom of Information Act 2000 Exemptions

The Absolute Exemptions:

These are the exemptions where, if the exemption applies, it is not necessary to go on to consider disclosure in the public interest:

Section 21	Information accessible to applicant by other means whether within the ICB or externally (therefore, all information accessible through a Publication Scheme will be covered by this exemption)
Section 23	Information supplied by, or relating to, bodies dealing with security matters (a certificate signed by a Minister of the Crown is conclusive proof that the exemption is justified). There is a separate appeals mechanism against such certificates.
Section 32	Court records, etc.
Section 34	Parliamentary privilege (a certificate signed by the Speaker of the House in respect of the House of Commons, or by the Clerk of the Parliaments in respect of the House of Lords is conclusive proof that the exemption is justified).
Section 37	Communications with Her Majesty, etc and Honours
Section 40	Personal information (where applicant is the subject of the information, the applicant has the right of 'subject access' under the Data Protection Act 1998 2018; where the information concerns a third party and if disclosed would likely to endanger the physical or mental health or safety of an individual. If disclosed would breach a duty of confidentiality owed to another).
Section 41	Information provided in confidence.
Section 44	Prohibitions on disclosure where a disclosure is prohibited by an enactment or would constitute contempt of court.

The Qualified Exemptions where the public interest test applies:

Section 22	Information intended for future publication
Section 24	National Security (other than information supplied by or relating to named security organisations, where the duty to consider public interest disclosure does not arise).
Section 26	Defence
Section 27	International Relations
Section 28	Relations with the United Kingdom
Section 29	The Economy
Section 30	Investigations and proceedings conducted by public authorities
Section 31	Law enforcement
Section 33	Audit functions
Section 35	Formulation of government policy, etc.
Section 36	Prejudice to effective conduct of public affairs (except information held by the House of Commons or the House of Lords)
Section 38	Health and Safety
Section 39	Environmental information
Section 40	Personal information (the ICB is only required to consider release in the public interest: (i) – where the information concerns a third party and a ‘Section 10 Notice’ under the Data Protection Act 1998 applies to that information, and (ii) – where the information concerns a third party who would not be entitled to access that information themselves because a ‘subject access exemption’ applies to it under the Data Protection Act 1998).
Section 42	Legal professional privilege
Section 43	Commercial interests
